Introduction

Ready to reimagine, remix and refresh? Discover a whole new way to play with strips of fabrics in this fun, experimental quilting approach. Scrappy Jelly Roll Race Remix takes the typical jelly roll race quilting method and infuses it with creativity, spontaneity, and scrappy charm. Use a Jelly Roll or use your stash to create a quick and fun quilt. Pattern includes five size options and many variations to the typical Jelly Roll Race quilt.

- # WOF Strips – If using a Jelly Roll or cutting from yardage, these are how many width of fabric (WOF) strips you will need. A Jelly Roll typically has forty 2 1/2" wide strips (approximately 3 yards). However, you can use your scraps as well!
- Optional Accent Fabric – You may want to include small bits of accent fabric separating your strips like in the sample. Make sure these bits contrast with the rest of the fabric. In the example, I used small pieces of blue fabric to contrast with the warm strips. You will need the number of strips listed if using 2 1/2" squares. You can go smaller but each piece should be at least 1 1/2" x 2 1/2". Yardage is included if a single fabric is being used.
- Length of Strip – this refers to approximately how long the initial strip will be when you've sewn all the strips together. If using scraps, lay them out end to end, overlapping 1/2" for seam allowance, to approximate how many scrap strips you will need.
